

Are you planning to breastfeed?

Help us learn more about what makes breastmilk so special!

Mothers and Infants Linked for Healthy Growth (MILK) study is one of the largest and longest-running breastfeeding studies in the United States. It is helping researchers learn more about how your breastmilk affects your baby's growth and microbiome (gut health).

You may be eligible to enroll in this study if:

- ✓ You are between 21 and 45 years old.
- ✓ You are pregnant when you enroll and plan to breastfeed.

There are three study visits at OU Children's Hospital. You will be compensated $170 for time and travel, and your personal information will be kept private.

If interested, Call Katy at (405) 271-8001 ext. 42792 or email BabyPeas@ouhsc.edu.

For more information, visit milkresearch.umn.edu.

